

DIXON LOYALTY LEAGUE IS NOT FOR CITY PLAN

Is Opposed To Purchase Of Water Company By Municipality

An interesting meeting of the Dixon Loyalty League was held last evening at the city hall which was largely attended and at which time numerous important matters were presented for discussion. One of the foremost of these was a plan to establish a Dixon Loyalty League Kitchen in Dixon as soon as possible, where food will be dispensed to the needy of the city as well as to hungry transients, without charge.

The plan will be sponsored by the Loyalty League and a committee composed of Frank Chiverton, chairman, Frank Stephan, Frank Sproul, Mort Frazier, Byron LeFevre, Elmer Jones and James Brady was appointed by President Charles E. Miller, to investigate the advisability of the project and report to the League at a later meeting. Canvassers of the plan reported that they had been practically assured of the donation of a building and many other essentials, to be centrally located in the business district, where soup and coffee will be prepared and dispensed without charge to the worthy and deserving. Families of unemployed are to be given preference and transients who at present are begging on the streets are also to be served, according to the proposed plan. The cost of operating and maintaining the kitchen will be defrayed by a small assessment on each member of the League, it was proposed, and at last evening's meeting the opinion was unanimously in favor of such a plan.

Protest Water Works Plan
A discussion relative to the purchase of the Dixon Water Company by the city was another interesting part of the evening's program. President Miller read sections from the ordinance which he stated was prepared by the bond company's attorneys and submitted to the city council for passage. He explained that as he understood the proposal a total of $39,059.60 would be taken out of Dixon each year for a period of at least 35 years, with no promise of a reduction in water rates and with possibilities for a raise in rates to meet the bonds. President Miller further explained that at the present time about 68 of the 71 stockholders of the Dixon Water Company are residents of Dixon and the proceeds from the company's operations largely remain within the city, whereas under the plan of the city council, approximately $1,262,986.00 would be taken out of the city.

Would Boost Taxes
The effect on the city's taxes was also emphasized during the interesting discussion, and it was pointed out that the city's share of taxes paid by the water company, amounting to about $2,700 would be taken away under the purchase plan and that the city's finances as well as the Dixon public school fund would be materially decreased by the loss of such taxes under the municipal ownership plan. The voice of the meeting was in protest against the purchase of the plant by the city. W. V. Slothower, another former city commissioner spoke in opposition to the plan and stated that as business men of the city, the Loyalty League was vitally interested in the plan. Instances were cited where municipally owned water plants had proven paying in but one out of 15 years, and it was also stated that under the municipal ownership plan the water producing system of Dixon would become a political football with a change of employees at each election.

Committees Named
President Charles Miller appointed the following committees to serve for the month of November:
Awards—William Nixon, chairman, Charles Heckman, A. J. Tedwall and William V. Slothower.
Advertising—Ray Kline, chairman, George Prescott, J. L. Glassburn, George Belcher, W. H. Ware, and M. Rasch.

Says Sun Will Last Billions Of Years
Evanston, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The sun, Dr. W. D. MacMillan, professor of astronomy at the University of Chicago believes, will continue shining for 15,000,000,000,000 years.
"It seems," he said, "that the sun is deriving its energy at the expense of its mass, so that it is gradually wasting away, but so slowly that its present resources are sufficient to last 15,000 billion years."
His belief was expressed in an address last night at Northwestern University.

ALL QUIET AT PRISON

President Denies Outside Investment

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—(AP)—In a telegram received by C. C. Teague, head of the Republican campaign in southern California, President Hoover stated he has not "had a dime's interest" in any activity outside the United States during the last 15 years.
The telegram was in response to an inquiry from Teague who informed the nation's Executive oil workers in California were receiving political pamphlets charging Mr. Hoover opposed the tariff on oil because of ownership of foreign oil wells.
"The telegram," "I have your telegram stating that Democratic agents, despite all proof to the contrary, are still circulating misleading statements through their fields that I have been opposed to relief of oil industry because of my supposed interest in foreign oil and that I opposed the tariff on oil. This is their usual type of politics.
"I have not in 15 years since I entered public service had a dime's interest outside of the United States of any kind including oil. I supported the oil tariff in revenue bill and signed that bill. Without support I gave I do not believe it would have received sufficient vote from non-oil sections to have been carried."

Leader Of Rumanian Peasants Is Premier

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Maniu, veteran leader of the Rumanian peasant party—who once went into a frowning retirement of silence, some of his friends said, because of the presence in Rumania of the red-haired Mme. Magda Lupescu, friend of King Carol—was sworn in today as head of the new cabinet by the King.
The veteran former Premier, who was head of the government when Carol suddenly returned from his Paris exile more than two years ago, succeeded in forming a cabinet last night, after a political squabble which lasted all week.
He was called by King Carol last week from his native Transylvania, to solve the crisis that developed out of the quarrel between former Premier Vaida-Voevod and Nicholas Titulescu, former Ambassador to Great Britain. Vaida-Voevod had refused to accept M. Titulescu as Foreign Minister and the latter refused to accept the former's recent treaty of non-aggression with Soviet Russia.

Peter O'Toole Of Amboy Passed Away

Peter O'Toole, for many years a resident of Amboy, died at his home in that city at 3 o'clock this morning the result of a stroke. Funeral arrangements had not been made today, pending the arrival of a son and daughter from Chicago, but it is thought the services will probably be held Saturday morning. Definite information will be announced tomorrow.

The city council in special adjourned session this morning, passed the ordinance providing for the purchase of the Dixon Water Company properties, the purchase price being $520,000 and the bonds bearing interest at the rate of five per cent. The session of the council was lengthy during which time a discussion was conducted in which the manner of purchase was explained.
A delegation of the Lee County Taxpayer's League was present at the meeting upon invitation, for the purpose of correcting figures which were published last evening by that organization, which city

ROOSEVELT CAN NOT SEE BONUS PAYMENTS NOW

Announced Position In Address At Pittsburgh Last Eve

BULLETIN
Aboard Roosevelt Special, Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt's campaign train got "lost" today in Ohio.

Through a misunderstanding, the Big Four railroad routed the special by way of Cincinnati on its way from Pittsburgh to Indiana, sending it through towns which it had not been expected to touch and disappointing an early morning crowd at Springfield, O., where a five minute stop had been planned.

The Governor and his party were up and ready to greet the gathering at Springfield, but to their surprise the train dashed straight on through while the crowd yelled for it to stop.

The surprised Governor Roosevelt then discovered furthermore that he was well on his way to Cincinnati, instead of following the schedule of heading direct for Indianapolis from Springfield. Making the best of it, he greeted a small crowd at Middletown, Ohio, mostly workmen who perched on box cars to get a good view of the nominee.

"Still Dodging" Sec. Mills Declares—

Washington, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Mills said today he would reply to the speech last night by Franklin D. Roosevelt, objecting to the administration's fiscal policies and expressing himself of the bonus, on next Tuesday night in Cincinnati.
The Treasury Secretary asserted the Democratic nominee was "still dodging" on the bonus issue.
"Roosevelt indicated," he told newspapermen, "that if there was a surplus in the Treasury he would pay the bonus next week. He hasn't met the issue. He is still dodging. He hasn't indicated whether as President he would sign a bonus bill or not."

campaign a declaration on the basis behind Governor Roosevelt today as he sped westward from Pittsburgh toward the hotly disputed territory of Indiana.

Shouted into his campaign record through the microphones at crowded Forbes Field last night was the New York Governor's assertion that he does "not now see how" a nation with a heavy deficit can consider immediate bonus payment until its budget is balanced.

In this first big speech of his western and southern tour, Roosevelt also envisioned modification of the Volstead Act, in line with the Democratic platform pledge, to supply "several hundred millions of dollars a year toward the balancing of the budget."

With his face toward Indianapolis today, he had behind him a one-day automobile swing through the Ohio valley corner of three states—Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio—culminating in the county in what the Democratic County Chairman David L. Lawrence—described as "the greatest political gathering in Pennsylvania's history."

The Governor's pronouncement on the bonus issue was added to the advance text of his speech at the last moment. The declaration covered a single typewritten sheet and was delivered near the end of the Governor's lengthy criticism of administration fiscal policies.

He said that in accordance with the fundamental policy of economy it was necessary to eliminate "from federal budget-making during this emergency all new items except such as relate to direct relief of unemployment."

He added that former President Coolidge had said in his speech in New York that "an early word from the Democratic candidate for President that he would reject the proposal to pay a bonus would have been a great encouragement to business and reduced unemployment."

"That charge, my friends, is baseless and absurd for the very good reason that last April my views on the subject were widely published and have been subsequently frequently quoted" he asserted.

THE PRISONER

BANK ROBBERS AT BELLEVILLE DISARMED COP

Escaped With Between $8,000 and $10,000 Today

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Disarming an Illinois Highway Patrolman who was signing a check at a counter, three men robbed the Belleville National Bank here at noon today of between $8,000 and $10,000. The robbers approached Patrolman W. D. Sexton, a customer of the bank from the rear and seized his gun. The robbers, after obtaining their loot, escaped in an automobile driven by another member of the robber gang. The automobile headed toward East St. Louis, and was reported seen about a mile and a quarter out of town traveling at high speed.
Deputy Sheriff, Highway Patrolmen and county officers armed with riot guns sped out of town in pursuit of the robbers.

BRADLEY HOLDUP
Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Three bandits robbed the Bradley State & Savings Bank of $4,000 today and abducted the cashier, E. C. Vandagriff. The bank was robbed on Sept. 15 by five men who escaped with $6,000. Vandagriff was released by the trio on a deserted road three miles northeast of Bradley.
The license plate on the bandit car was originally issued for a car owned by Fred Williams, Chicago, an investigation disclosed. In the chase after the first hold-up one of the five bandits was shot by Deputy Sheriff C. R. Reed but escaped with the others when the radiator on Reed's car was shot full of holes and he was forced to give up the chase.

Farley Charge Is Refuted By Party
Akron, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Assertions of Virgil Rogers, Democratic State Central committee member, that Akron rubber factories were "intimidating" their employees into voting for President Hoover, today were said to be "without foundation" by three Democratic leaders who investigated the allegation.
The three, Ross F. Walker, member of the Democratic State Executive committee; Charles V. Starkey, chairman of the Democratic County Executive committee, and Leu C. Koplin, chairman of the Democratic County Campaign committee, declared they have wired their finding to Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee, with a request that he release it to the press.
Farley originally made public the Rogers charges at New York.

Dixonites Suffer Minor Injuries In Accident On Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Etnyre, 603 East Chamberlain street and Mrs. Eliza Malarkey miraculously escaped serious injury or death yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock when the automobile driven by Mr. Etnyre crashed into the north end of the Grand Detour bridge on the Black Hawk Trail. The women, who occupied the rear seat of the sedan, were thrown into the front of the car, sustaining painful bruises and minor cuts and Mr. Etnyre was only slightly bruised and cut. None of the glass in the car was broken.

They were returning to Dixon from Rockford and as Mr. Etnyre approached the north end of the bridge across Rock river a large dog ran out of a corn field on the right side of the road directly in the pathway of the car. The driver swerved to the left to avoid striking the dog and crashed into the heavy plank guard rail, the front of the bridge. Two heavy steel rails were torn loose by the crash. The body of the car was not scratched, but the chassis was badly damaged, the front wheels being torn away from the machine. The occupants were taken in another car to the Etnyre home where they were attended by a physician. The ladies were suffering from shock and their injuries, Mrs. Malarkey, who is past 82 years of age, being the worst injured, but all were reported to be resting very comfortably this morning.

His break with Wilson came unexpectedly early in 1916. Garrison had been pressing for a national defense plan built upon a federal continental army as opposed to the National Guard. Wilson, too, espoused the plan in public speeches but in correspondence with Garrison said that while he believed control of the military reserve should be placed under federal direction, he was not "irrevocably or dogmatically committed to any one plan."

The House Military committee was opposed to the Garrison plan. Wilson advised his Secretary he considered his insistence that only the War Department plan should be considered "wholly unjustifiable."

On February 10, 1916, Garrison resigned because "it is evident that we hopelessly disagree upon what I conceive to be fundamental principles." His Assistant Secretary, Henry Breckinridge, resigned with him. Newton D. Baker later was named Secretary.

WILSON'S FIRST WAR SECRETARY DIED LAST EVE

Lindley M. Garrison Served Both State And Nation

Sea Bright, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The death of Lindley M. Garrison, former Secretary of War, recalled today his sharp disagreement with Wilson over national defense problems and sudden resignation from that President's cabinet in 1916.

Garrison died here last night. During his 68 years he served both as a New Jersey state official and in Washington. Then he returned to the private practice of law with the New York firm of Hornblower, Miller and Garrison.

Wilson made Garrison's acquaintance in New Jersey, where he was Vice Chancellor from 1904 to 1913. During the latter part of this time Wilson was Governor, and when he went to the White House he put Garrison at the head of the War Department.

His break with Wilson came unexpectedly early in 1916. Garrison had been pressing for a national defense plan built upon a federal continental army as opposed to the National Guard. Wilson, too, espoused the plan in public speeches but in correspondence with Garrison said that while he believed control of the military reserve should be placed under federal direction, he was not "irrevocably or dogmatically committed to any one plan."

The robbery was discovered about 2:15 this morning when members of the police department found the doors at the foot of the stairs leading to the studio unlocked. The locks apparently had been picked to gain admittance to the studio rooms. No tools were left scattered about in the office and the intruders centered their activities on the large safe and did not molest the desk or other cabinets. The

Did Not Blame Hoover For Depression Until Recently

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Chairman Everett Sanders of the Republican National Committee today took issue with Democratic spokesmen who, he said, had charged that President Hoover was responsible for "the world depression." He spoke at a Republican luncheon at the Hamilton Club.

"For weeks now," he said, "Democratic orators, headed by the Democratic nominee himself, have been telling the voters that the world depression is the result of maladministration in Washington. 'Some have held President Hoover personally responsible while others have claimed that the Republican party and its governmental principles have been to blame for this economic cyclone of world wide scope. He President also has been held to blame for not taking earlier steps to meet the disaster. The last man to utter this calumny in Chicago was Governor Riehl."

"What are the facts?"
"John Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said in his radio address of October 27, 1930:

"In closing let me say that no country in the world, not even our own, was ever in as splendid position to go forward and enjoy a period of prosperity as our country is today. Everything has been thoroughly deflated and business is now turning upward. The momentum is necessarily slow at first but within three months with the impetus the automobile industry is sure to provide, starting with the January shows, we will quickly leave depression behind and all be singing 'Happy Days Are Here Again'."

"Does anyone believe that the then chairman was about to burst into song if he believed that the depression was only starting?"

"But Governor Roosevelt and his lieutenants say that President Hoover should, in the fall of 1930, have been taking steps to stop the depression which he should have known as just starting."

"Mr. Raskob didn't know. 'The full force of the tornado had not yet reached our shores.'"

Smith Also Quoted
"Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1928, two days later said in a radio talk:
"At Providence, R. I. (Oct. 27) I spoke about the present business depression and condition of unemployment prevailing throughout the nation. I distinctly do not, or I believe that any leader of the Democratic party, take the position of placing upon the Republican party the blame for the business depression and consequent unemployment."

"The Democratic leaders of 1932 are taking issue with their old standard bearer and shouting 'Hoover is to blame.'"

"Governor Roosevelt himself, at the Democratic victory dinner on January 14 of this year, felt that Democracy could not tolerate abuse against the President. Here are his words:

"We shall never be made the object of the accusation that we have dealt our opponents a blow below the belt. I refer especially to many men and women in the United States, members of both great parties; men and women using the vehicles of conversation, of books, of magazines and the daily press, who have forgotten their sense of fair play and that the same time the facts that their victim of the moment is the President of the United States. That they do this in jest or without thought is poor excuse. I deplore the tendency to blame all our present troubles on the President of the United States."

"The truth then is the truth now."

In So. America

Buenos Aires, Oct. 20—(AP)—Will Rogers, who was the guest of the American Colony at a dinner last night, said he was "America's gift to those who didn't see the Prince of Wales."

"I'm here to lower the tariff," the humorist said. "Argentina exports wheat, meat and gigolos, and the United States puts a tariff on the wrong two."

He recalled how he came to Argentina in 1901, with money he earned selling cattle, and found himself unable to hold a job as an Argentine cowboy. He lived in Buenos Aires until his money was all gone, he said, then worked his way to Africa on a cattle boat and joined a wild west show.

He left early this morning by airplane for Brazil, on the way home.

Open Minn. Roads

St. Paul, Oct. 20—(AP)—The trucks of agricultural products in Minnesota today hailed their loads through farmers' pocket lines with the aid of the State Highway Patrol.

The patrol began its activities against the pickets late last night on roads north and west of the Twin Cities where the farmers had congregated in large numbers to halt trucks.

Under command of Captain G. K. Kuch, fifty patrolmen seized pickets and belts when they were placed on the highways by the pickets. The pickets and belts then were burned by the patrolmen and the farmers warned that they must not obstruct the roads. There was no violence.

Glasford, a retired Brigadier General, disputed statements by his superiors that he had said under following charges between veterans and police.

His resignation, however, grew out of official opposition to changes in personnel he wished to make in the police department.

After Glasford announced plans for a reorganization of his force, opposition developed to the transfer of Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, head of the Detective Bureau, to another post.

serted. "I said this:

"I don't see how, as a matter of practical sense, a government running behind two billion dollars annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payments until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper but with a surplus of cash in the treasury."

"My friends, no one, for political purposes or otherwise, has the right in the absence of explicit statement from me to assume that my views have changed. They have not."

Pledging himself to a program of economy, Roosevelt told his hearers he determined the day after his nomination to exact from each prospective member of his cabinet a pledge of support of the Democratic economy plank and of cooperation with him looking to economy and reorganization.

Whether he would have more to say on the bonus was not indicated as he headed for Indianapolis, national headquarters of the American Legion.

SMITH ADDS PLEA

New York, Oct. 20—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, plunging into the heat of the national campaign, declares that the "bright star" guiding the nation into "a harbor and haven of repose is complete and full Democratic victory in November."

Cheers echoed in the Tammany wigwag last night as the former Governor, making his first speech of the national drive, spoke the names of Roosevelt and Garner.

"I have been privileged in the past—and from a Democratic standpoint I think the leaders of the party will still extend me the privilege of speaking on behalf of the rank and file of our great party in this city—to know that the loyalty, the devotion of the great Democratic organization of this city will be exerted to the last degree in favor of the election of Roosevelt and Garner."

A crowd that jammed the auditorium in Tammany headquarters and spilled over into the streets laughed and cheered as the former Governor jibed at the Republicans as taking advantage of the "open season on bunk" and praised the Democratic record.

State and city issues occupied most of his address because, he said, he would discuss things national in Newark, N. J., Monday night and at the "windup" in New York City. He said the "overwhelming re-election" of Senator Robert F. Wagner was a necessity.

INDIANAPOLIS PARADE
Indianapolis, Oct. 20—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt carried his campaign into Indiana today.

Receiving a tumultuous welcome and parade as he arrived in Indianapolis at 11:35 A. M. (C.S.T.) from Pittsburgh where last night he stated his position on the bonus.

The Governor's special train reached Indianapolis thirty-five minutes late after having been "lost" for a time in Ohio through a misunderstanding between officials of the Big Four railroads and those in charge of the Governor's party.

A caravan of automobiles met the Democratic presidential candidate and a cheer went up as he appeared. He was greeted by Indiana Democratic leaders after which a parade started through the streets of the city.

The Governor after the parade was to make the first of three Indianapolis addresses from the balcony of the hotel English.

His other two appearances here were to extend brief greeting to party workers.

The Governor was met at the station by Mrs. Roosevelt who came on by train from New York, where she was detained by school teaching duties. She will accompany him through the remainder of the swing through the west and south.

Mrs. Roosevelt took a seat in the second car of the procession behind the Governor's machine. She was seated between her daughter and daughter-in-law as the procession roared away.

Disorders Break
Out At Ohio Mine

New Philadelphia, O., Oct. 20—(AP)—A dynamiting and an exchange of shots, with guards firing machine guns, marked another episode in the series of troubles at the Wolford Coal Company's mine near Newport early today.

Two transformers of a sub station of the Ohio Power Company half a mile from the mine were destroyed by a dynamite blast at midnight at a loss estimated by officials at $3,000. Two manufacturing plants as well as the Wolford mine obtained electric current from the station.

Less than an hour later, snipers opened fire on five private guards at the mine. The guards replied with machine gun fire. No one was injured.

The Wolford mine was not included in a mine wage scale agreement for Tuscarawas county effected last week.

Says Manufacturers

Oppose Socialists

Chicago, Oct. 20—(AP)—Socialist campaign headquarters issued today a statement quoting Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee as saying the National Association of Manufacturers has started "a nationwide movement to coerce workers against voting for Norman Thomas, Socialist presidential nominee."

The statement contained a paragraph which Hoan said had been printed on a slip of paper and inserted into the pay envelopes of "millions of men and women employed by members of the manufacturing association."

The paragraph reads: "Lower tariff means more imported goods, more imported goods means less work in America; less work means more unemployment."

Cutting Expenses

Of Govt. Is Hard

Boston, Oct. 20—(AP)—Arthur A. Ballantine, Under Secretary of the Treasury, today told a meeting of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts that the problem of reducing Federal expenditures "is far from the simple task of effecting the curtailment of a vast total of expenditures, all of substantially the same class."

Some expenditures, he said, "cannot be reduced, others can be reduced only with great difficulty and general expenditures are a comparatively small percentage and are made up of a great aggregate of items, each presenting distinctive considerations and quagmires of policy."

"When anyone declares that Federal expenditures can be cut in some impressive percentage, he should be called upon to specify where and how."

HURLEY ANSWERS

Omaha, Oct. 20—(AP)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today accused Governor Roosevelt of "dodging the issue" and of resorting to "flagrant misrepresentation" in his campaign speech at Pittsburgh last night.

Discussing the Democratic presidential nominee's government economy program as he prepared to hop off for Chicago this morning, Hurley cited eight points on which, he said, Roosevelt "failed" to declare himself.

"His Pittsburgh speech on economy convicts him of political cowardice," Hurley said, adding

WATER LILLIES

WATER lilies; swimming, swaying, and floating. In a pool of silver, Creamy, lemon, rose, and crimson. Cups of sunset glory. Smiling up with golden rays To greet a golden sun. And as the wind ruffles and disturbs the pool The circling ripples Open into rings of light; And the tinted chalices Dip and poise and swing In the eddying currents Of air and water.

Their smooth round leaves Lie like green islands; Or go drifting, drifting, Till suddenly they rise and turn Like fairy boats that hoist each wind-sail. And faint would cast away From anchorage; to fly and find A far still, shore of silence Where are no changing winds, But even light illumined. A mirrored calm, and sweet tranquility.

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Talk about "passing the buck!" Ohio State University, instead of itself choosing the "homecoming queen" from among the fair co-eds, is going to hand the problem this year to the football team of the University of Pennsylvania. In other years, the queen has been selected by the Buckeye students amid strife politics, mudslinging and dissatisfaction. Once one of the agricultural division's cows received the most ballots. This year, it was first decided to leave the selection to a committee. But the committee passed the buck to James H. Lepper, homecoming chairman. Lepper, after a few sleepless nights, relinquished the job to the Pennsylvania team which comes here Nov. 12 for the homecoming game.

ALL BUTTER BREAD

AND HELP BRING BACK PROSPERITY

Just that! Butter fat is one of the most important products of this Nation, and this great dairy state of Illinois is the fourth largest producer of butter in these United States. It should bring in a large part of our Community's income.

But butter fat prices are so low that there's no money in it for the farmers. He has less to spend. Every one, in town or country alike, feels the pinch of this condition.

We have joined forces with Bakers all over the country who are now baking All Butter Bread using pure creamery butter instead of other shortening. This movement is spreading like wild-fire. Already it has created a new market for thousands upon thousands of pounds of butter. The price of butter-fat is bound to go up if everybody—you--your neighbor-- support the plan and insist upon the extra-fine Beier's Twist All-Butter Bread.

You'll enjoy this richer, more delicious bread. For after all, there is no shortening as good as butter, especially in combination with a full glass of pure, rich, creamy milk in every loaf in excess of U. S. Government standards for Milk Bread.

THE JOB'S THE THING.

The small merchant depends on those who labor.
When the man who labors has a job, the merchant prospers.

When he lacks a job, the merchant is in ill luck. Cash sales decrease. Charge sales increase. Collections become slow. The sheriff becomes active.

When the man who labors has a poor job, his friend the small merchant, is but little better off. The call of the sheriff is merely delayed.

The jobs, and the quality of the jobs, measured in dollars, held by the men and women who support the small merchant, ARE DOUBLY MENACED by the happily remote, but still existent, chance of Democratic success.

The first effect would be slowing up of business, consequent upon desire to see what the Democrats would do. They could do NOTHING within a YEAR of CONFUSION, doubt and despair.

And fewer jobs would be available for those who work with their hands.

The second effect would be slowing up of business pending execution of the Democratic threat to destroy the protective tariff and make of our home markets an auction in which American workmen, the best paid in the world, would have to BID FOR WORK against the subsistence level labor of pauperized Europe, the peon labor of Mexico, the coolie labor of Asia, the slave labor of Africa, the convict camp labor of Communist Russia.

That would mean FEWER JOBS for those on whom the MERCHANT must depend. It would mean smaller pay checks on which he, the merchant, must depend.

Not a cheerful prospect for the merchant in the event of success of Democratic efforts to capitalize misery in the hope of defeating President Hoover.

RE-ELECT JUSTUS L. JOHNSON APPELLATE COURT CLERK.

Lawyers, litigants and judges, without regard to party affiliation, have joined in expressing their appreciation of the service rendered by Justus L. Johnson, Clerk of the Appellate Court, Second District.

Orderly development, equal opportunity, human rights and liberties are safeguarded by the courts of appeal. Not many people come in contact with these courts, but their processes are necessary to guarantee fair dealing, without which sound government and progress cannot proceed.

Justus L. Johnson has received the highest commendation from all past and present members of the court which include Hon. Oscar E. Heard, of Freeport; Hon. Norman L. Jones, of Carrollton; members of the Supreme Court of Illinois; Hon. Augustus A. Partlow, of Danville, a former Commissioner of the Supreme Court of Illinois; Hon. John M. Niehaus, of Peoria; Hon. John M. Jett, of Hillsboro; Hon. Fred G. Wolke, of Quincy, and Hon. James S. Baldwin, of Decatur, Justices of the Appellate Court. These judges have all attained a high station in the legal profession in Illinois. Four have been associated with the Democratic party and three with the Republican party. Without regard to party, all have joined in praising the work performed by him. Voters should be glad to accept such recommendation and mark their ballots for the return of Justus L. Johnson, Republican candidate for Clerk of the Appellate Court.

A MORAL FOR MOTORISTS.

There is a bit of a moral for all motorists in the story of the Texan who wanted to inspect the scene of a fatal accident the other day. A car had gone off the road on a mountain highway, killing its driver; so this Texan drove out to see, and got so interested looking at things that he lost control of his own machine and it, too, went off the road and down into a ravine killing its driver.

The moral, of course, is self-evident; never get so interested in the sights around you that you forget to watch where you are driving. But that is a fault fatally easy for a motorist to lapse into. All of us have been guilty of it at one time or another. Usually we come through it all right. But we might as well remember that it can be a horribly costly little error.

They think I am crazy, but they also thought Noah was crazy when he warned them of the flood.—John B. Nash, Springfield, Mo., who prophesies end of the world is near.

Newspaper correspondents with Governor Roosevelt's campaign special announced that the Democratic candidate decided during the last week of the trip to feed the voters on a lighter speech diet, for a time, because he wants them to have an opportunity to digest the heavy, meaty stuff he has been feeding them in his addresses. In other words, the Governor will now offer a campaign menu with hash instead of bologna.

The Tynymites were quite surprised and startled when they realized that their wee friend, the dumbbell, was in two parts on the ground.

The crash it had against the tree turned out as sad as sad could be. "Oh, my!" exclaimed brave Coppy, as the whole bunch gathered round.

"There must be something we can do. That little dumbbell was brand new and now it's in an awful shape. Two parts, instead of one."

"I feel we Tynies are to blame. That's what makes it seem such a shame. We started for a walk and then suggested that we run."

"Oh, no! You're wrong!" another cried. "I well recall, the dumbbell tried to get us to join in a race and that's when we all ran."

"However, let's not argue now. Instead, let's think of some way how we all can help the dumbbell. We must do the best we can."

Just then one dumbbell head cried out, "We're separated now," no doubt, for all time and that makes me sad. What are we going to do?

"I have a body all my own, but I'll get longsome left alone. I'm also sure the other half will start to feeling blue."

The other half replied, "You bet! I simply don't know how I'll get along if I am left like this." Then it began to cry.

One Tyny shouted, "Don't shed tears. Perhaps we can allay your fears. We'll all think hard and maybe we can help you, bye and bye."

The crying, though, came harder still. The Tynymites looked on until wee Scouty grabbed the dumbbell head, which had rolled off a bit. He put it by the other one and, just as soon as that was done, the dumbbell stopped its crying.

Scouty said, "That pleases it!" (Copyright 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

P. W. Hartford, publisher of the Portsmouth, N. H. Herald, says:

"The test of time has proven that nothing has been devised or executed in doors or out of doors that can take the place of newspaper advertising. Newspaper advertising has made more successful merchants, industries, individuals in big and little businesses throughout the world than all other kinds of advertising combined. Newspaper advertising is a record and a permanent imprint upon the minds of the people. Every attempt to displace it has met with signal failure."

"Advertising over the air leaves no record. It fades almost instantly from the mind of the public. There is no check up. It fails to hold the people. Circulation is occasional. Forced to take it in a mixed program is resented, while newspaper advertising is constant. It is there in the home for reference and for check up. It is not thrust at you. You buy it because you want it."

"In every community are patrons of the newspaper advertising columns. They may drift to test other means, but they are back with renewed activity to regain their position."

"Newspaper advertising is read by millions of men and women because they want to know. The great public institutions of the country have been made big through the use of newspaper advertising space."

HERE'S THE WAY THEY COOK 'EM IN MARYLAND

The food that the cooks of Maryland cook is famous up and down all the land as very good food. Cookery has been carried to one of its finest peaks of perfection in the Free State, and those of us who live outside the state borders often cast envious eyes the lucky people to whom Maryland cookery is an every-day affair.

These things being so, a fat book entitled "Eat, Drink and Be Merry in Maryland," by Frederick P. Stieff, ought to fill, as they used to say a long-felt want. In it Mr. Stieff has presented most of the recipes which have made Maryland cooking famous. You can learn here, for instance, just how the experts cook chicken à la Maryland—can learn, in fact, that in Maryland they drop the "a la" and simply call it chicken Maryland. You can learn to prepare fish, oysters, clams, terrapin—if you can get hold of any; how to make omelets, and Brunswick stew (which is really a Georgia dish, isn't it?) and sweet potato pie, and a lot of other very good things.

These recipes, by the way, the very old and time-tested. All of them date back a century or more. Mr. Stieff gives the origin of each, and the book is filled with pictures of old inns and manor houses where the delightful dishes originated.

If you believe in being kind to your stomach you'll find the book well worth reading.

Head Of Pennsy Is For Hoover

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Republican national campaign headquarters today made public a statement from W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, endorsing President Hoover for reelection.

"We are slowly recovering the ground we have lost," the statement said. "Industry is picking up; carloadings are increasing; confidence is being regained, and unemployment is decreasing."

"This is being accomplished under the leadership of President Hoover. His program, exercised through various agencies created upon his initiative, is showing good results. If permitted to continue under his guidance, I am convinced it will bring back normal conditions."

Atterbury added that "some of our employees have asked me to give them my best judgment as to the wise policy to follow and they are entitled to a straightforward answer. All of our employees are of course at liberty to vote as they think best. So far as I am personally concerned I expect to vote for Mr. Hoover and to work for his reelection."

Says Roosevelt Will Delay Work

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 19.—(AP)—United States Senator Otis Glenn said in an address here last night that the election of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt would retard by from three to six years the fight of the United States for return of prosperity.

He also predicted that "intelligent people" would carefully analyze the programs of the two major parties and convert the apparatus quo sector advantage of Gov. Roosevelt into victory for President Hoover.

Voters, Senator Glenn asserted, were beginning to "see in increasing numbers that it would be the height of folly" to remove President Hoover "from his great work while he is in the midst of it, and place the future of the country in untried and inexperienced hands."

STATE PUBLIC HEALTH RECORD OF SMALL GOOD

President Of American Hotel Physicians Endorses Him

Illinois' public health record under Governor Len Small was characterized as a high point in his administration by Dr. W. M. Camuels of Chicago, who is president of the American Hotel Physicians Association, in a letter to Franklin J. Stransky, chairman of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee. In his letter Dr. Camuels said:

"It is an undisputed fact that under Len Small's administration, Illinois had the lowest death rate of any state in the Union and that there was an actual saving of human lives unparalleled in the history of our state."

"The average death rate per thousand people in our state during the seven years prior to Gov. Small's administration was 13.4. At the end of his term in 1927 the average was reduced to 11.2 per thousand people. Had the death rate of 13.4 per thousand people prevailed during the seven years of Governor Small's administration, a total of 97,198 persons then living would have been dead."

"Prior to 1921, before Governor Small's administration, over 10 per cent of all babies born in Illinois died during their first year of life."

By the end of his administration in 1927, this mortality rate was reduced to 6.1-2 per cent."

"The average annual number of infant deaths per thousand births prior to Governor Small's administration was 101.7. This average was reduced so that the number of these infant deaths was 66.6 per thousand births; the lowest on record. For the seven years of his administration there were 69,391 infant deaths in our state, while for the preceding seven years there were 86,336 showing a saving of 16,945 infant lives, surely a record to be very proud of."

"Deaths from nearly all contagious diseases were decreased. These results were achieved by a sound, scientific preventive program, initiated and carried out by the state government, which, among other things, investigated epidemic outbreaks and caused the sanitary improvement of public and private water supplies all over the state."

Carlstrom's Endorsement
On Labor day over 16,000 people packed the grounds on the lake front at DePue to hear Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, himself a gubernatorial candidate in the April primaries, endorse the candidacy of Len Small, Republican nominee for governor.

Under the headlines "Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom Endorses Len Small," the story, in part, is told as follows in the columns of the Chillicothe Bulletin:

"Over 16,000 people, who packed the grounds at the Labor Day celebration at DePue, heard Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, of Alton, make his first speech of the fall campaign. Attorney Carlstrom was one of the three leading candidates for the nomination for the Governorship in the Republican primaries last April, in which contest there were eight candidates."

"The crowd at DePue was the largest that had ever assembled there on a similar occasion."

"Former Governor Len Small, who had expected to be present, found at the last moment he could not do so. As it was, Mr. Small traveled over 500 miles by automobile on Labor Day to fulfill three previously advertised engagements."

"General Carlstrom, although defeated in the primaries, is loyal to the Republican party and he announced Monday that it is his purpose to go down the line for Governor Small, and the Republican candidates to the utmost extent of his ability. He stated that, on account of the present issues involving the question of taxation and representation in the Illinois legislature, he feels that a crisis has arisen that should attract the attention of every voter and taxpayer interested in these questions."

Mr. Carlstrom said: "I was a candidate for governor of the state of Illinois and I submitted my case to the people at the primaries held on April 12. I failed to receive the nomination. The majority was for Len Small. I believe in the primaries and I hold that when any candidate submits his cause to the voters of the party, he should abide by the results and follow the wishes of the people. This I can do cheerfully."

"Len Small has been my friend all these years. I was with him on the ticket in 1924 when I was elected to the position of Attorney General, which office I still hold. He helped me to obtain that office and prior to 1924 I worked under him as a member of the state tax commission. We have always pulled and worked together. I believe that Len Small, in the eight years he served as governor of this state honestly gave the best administration any man could give. I believe him sincere. I believe that he won the nomination in April in a fair and square manner and thing that every man or woman ought to be big enough to take off his hat to the winner and say 'I am for you.'"

"There are many reasons why we should be careful this year in electing a man to the governorship of Illinois. You know that the city of Chicago and Cook County owe the state over $30,000,000 in unpaid taxes. In addition to that our legislature has supplied $18,750,000 through the issuance of tax anticipation warrants which has been used mostly in Chicago as we did not want to let those people go hungry. Their leaders promised to support a bond issue for $20,000,000 to repay the state treasury by the gasoline tax money from the counties using the money, but those promises up to this time are unfulfilled. Those leaders who promised to explain the situation to the electorate and obtain their support for the bond issue are now silent with the result that the money will be collected next year through taxes. In Chicago the school teachers are unpaid, their firemen and policemen unpaid, they are back on the pay of the city and county employees, they are defaulting in their tax anticipation warrants and bonds and they are bankrupted. They should not be permitted to extend this condition to the state. I have nothing to say personally against Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who is the czar and dictator of Chicago, but politically, more than any other man, he has brought Chicago to the unenviable position it is now in. We must not turn the state over to his dictatorship.

They're High-Flyers in Society

... isn't the prime requisite for membership in the Pylon Club, an aviation organization of Philadelphia. The members are all prominent society folk who own and operate their own planes. Pictured here are a few who participated in a recent meeting at Norristown, Pa. At top are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Allen in front of their craft. A veteran pilot, Marshall Reid, and Mrs. Reid are shown lower left. He was one of the first aviators to fly a passenger from New York to Philadelphia. William T. Heinke, Jr., at lower right, is a son of a former member of the U. S. diplomatic corps.

"Small not only gave a good administration to the state, but he brought about improvements which we now enjoy. He fought for the approval of the $100,000,000 bond issue and today the state is so well provided with hard roads that all sections are accessible. We now have nearly ten thousand miles of hard surfaced roads in Illinois. It was because of these roads that I was enabled today to drive from my home in Alton to meet with you here in DePue this afternoon. Len Small gave an economical administration. He knows and understands men. The closer you get to him the better you like him. He is a common everyday man and not an upstage worker. He is approachable to everyone who desires to meet him. He understands agriculture and our people. He has mingled with and worked with them over thirty years. He is engaged in agriculture himself and he is on their side of the market. I don't believe there is any doubt but that on November 8th, next, you will overwhelmingly elect him."

Capone Hearing Again Postponed

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Hearing on a habeas corpus petition by which Al Capone, former Chicago gang overlord, seeks his release from the federal prison here, was postponed today until the week of November 15.

The postponement was ordered by District Judge Marvin Underwood as a case now on trial promised to take up the remainder of the week, and the calendar is full.

Assistant District Attorney Hal Lindsey said the calendar for next week was full, so that it would be difficult to work the Capone hearing in.

The postponement, he said, was taken with full consent of counsel for Capone.

"JUST PROPAGANDA"

Akron, O., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Harvey S. Firestone, Sr., Chairman of the Board of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, today described as "political propaganda" the recent statement from James Farley, Democratic National Chairman, charging Firestone and other rubber company officials with carrying on a campaign of "intimidation" among their employees in the interests of the Republican party.

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the company is carrying on a campaign of intimidation among its employees for President Hoover," Firestone said.

The Democratic statement had been previously denied by Goodrich and Goodyear spokesmen.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE FALL OF TICONDEROGA

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

We buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

JOKER IN THE BOND ISSUE

If You Mark "YES" You Vote "NO," If You Mark "NO" You Vote "YES," As Bonds Have Heretofore Been Understood

In putting through the $20,000,000 bond issue proposition for submission to the voters at the November election the Chicago committee caused the proposition to be so worded that all persons opposed to higher taxes and opposed to voting obligations against the state, will, if uninformed, vote contrary to their wishes. Such persons would naturally vote "no" on the proposed bond issue. If they do make a cross in the square opposite "no," they, in effect, vote "yes." They not only vote for the $20,000,000 obligation but they vote to pay the entire amount in one installment in next year's taxes, thereby practically doubling the state taxes next year.

Vote "Yes" to Keep Taxes Down
If they vote "yes," they vote against making the bonds an obligation against the property of the state and they also vote against paying the bonds through taxes. If they vote "yes," they vote that the counties which received the relief money shall themselves pay off the bonds from their share of the state gasoline tax money. If they vote "yes" and the bond issue carries, Chicago will be required to pay over 90 per cent of the bonds from its share of the gas tax money. Forty-seven counties downstate will pay the remainder out of their share of the state gas tax money while 54 counties which did not vote the relief funds will have no payments to make from any source, either taxes or gasoline tax money. Therefore it is important that every person should vote "Yes" on the bond issue this ballot. To do so make a mark in the square opposite "Yes."

In the history of the state up to this time, every bond issue submitted to the people has been for obtaining funds through an obligation placed upon the real and personal property of the state, payable, principal and interest, from taxes. Up to this time every person voting for a bond issue has voted for more obligations and more taxes. This year, for the first time, a voter voting for a bond issue, votes against additional obligations and against increased taxes. For the first time in voting "no," the voter votes for the obligation and for the tax boost.

Passed for Chicago's Benefit
This piece of legislation was put through the Legislature upon the request of the Chicago committee, headed by Mayor Cermak, as an emergency measure for residents of the state, who, by reason of unemployment or otherwise, were destitute and in necessitous circumstances. It was claimed by the Chicago committee that the relief funds produced by the measure would be equitably distributed throughout the state. The bill went through the Legislature hastily and many of those downstate members who voted for it, now freely acknowledge their mistake. Instead of distributing the funds equitably, 92 per cent of the amount went to Cook County while over half the counties downstate did not receive any of the funds.

The bond issue proposition was worded in such a way as to "hook" the farmers and business men who keenly feel the effects of the depression and who, if uninformed, will vote against their own interests when they go to the polls. The ballot has been so arranged that persons who are opposed to higher taxes and more obligations will, when voting against the bond issue, vote to nearly double next year's taxes. Secretary of State William J. Stratton, in an official document sent to each county clerk in the state, explains the operation of the tax proposition and states that in case the bond issue fails to pass, a property tax will be spread next year. He says:

Explains Provisions of the Bond Proposal
"This property tax will require at least 30 cents on each $100 assessed valuation which will practically double the present state tax rate and will be spread over the entire state. If the bond issue is approved, there will be no property tax required to retire the anticipated notes issued to obtain money for unemployment relief. The anticipated notes will be paid with the proceeds of the bonds and the bonds will be paid from the counties' share of motor fuel tax. Each county will pay only in the proportion it shared in the relief funds. No deduction will be made from the share of the county which did not receive these funds."

Vote "yes" on the $20,000,000 bond issue, therefore, vote against doubling the state tax. If you vote "no," you vote for increased taxes. If you do not vote at all, your action is equivalent to voting "no" if you vote for members of the General Assembly. The bond issue, to carry, must receive a majority of all the persons voting for members of the General Assembly.

To carry, the proposed bond issue should receive an almost solid support from down state. Up to this time, Chicago has failed to give the measure the support it promised the members of the Legislature.

Herald From Headquarters Of Herbert Hoover

Chicago, Oct. 20 — The Democratic legislative committee proposes to the country "bold experimentation" in government. As governor of New York he set up a new form of parole board in a year when the state faces one of the greatest deficits in its history. The bold experiment raised the cost of administering the parole law from $50,000 to $400,000 a year—an increase of 700 per cent.

In two years his new parole system has cost $700,000 more than the system he discarded—a high price to pay for an "experimental" executive.

George D. Dayton, president of the Dayton Company of Minneapolis, one of the largest department stores in the Middle West suggests that every Republican should take for his slogan:

Abraham Lincoln said: "Do not swap horses crossing a stream." Let Hoover be retained to complete the recovery now under way.

They finally slipped "Postoffice Jack" Garner's muzzle last week and let him make a radio speech. The result was a rush of words that ran two minutes over his allotted time. And the Republican National Committee paid—gladly—for the excess.

Will Irwin, noted author, who followed him on the chain as a speaker for the Republican Committee, told the radio audience that the two minutes of his time had been willingly donated to Garner and the Democrats because Garner on the air would make votes for the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

E. H. Schell, of the Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis, proposes that every Republican paper daily publish the reminder that:

The present administration is fighting the greatest battle against economic misery in the history of civilization. Do your part and victory is in our grasp.

Dr. Arthur H. Harrop, of Albion, Michigan, contributes to the Charlotte Republican-Tribune a poem on the two Roosevelt's that rings the bell. Here it is:

ROOSEVELT—BUT!
Seems to me I've heard of Roosevelt
For some thirty years or more.
Seen his pictures, bold and daring;
Seen him cowboy hat a-wearing;
Seen him cross the country faring—
But — his name was Theodore!

Problems of the Modern Home

By WILLIAM GILROY

Probably it would be a mistake to assume that the problems of the modern home are greater than those that have confronted homes in the past. But surely the conditions and forces confronting the modern home are very different.

One senses the lack of any adequate home life in past generations when masses of people were under feudal lordship, where the home conditions were narrow and disheartening, where there was little equipment for real living, and where in many instances the head of the home was called away on duty for his feudal lord in war or in some other capacity.

But the home of the past was in a relatively self-contained community. The mass of homes were rural, and in the main there was a possibility of a sort of patriarchal organization and tradition.

That phase of home life is now fairly well broken up. Complex modern life, with its abnormally large urban population, has created new problems for the home through the new conditions.

"Home" for many people today is simply a place where they eat and sleep. The real activities of life are largely outside of the home for parents as well as children, and under such conditions it is obvious that there can be no such thing as real or ideal home life.

Then, the conditions are changed morally and psychologically as well as economically and socially. Old and well established ideals are challenged, and books go so far today as to suggest that the rebellion of children against their parents is a valuable thing.

There has been in our own day a general breaking down of standards, revealed in the statistics of the divorce courts and in the conditions under which the masses of children are growing up with no real home ties and no home guidance. The problems incident to maintaining a home, and making it effective, were never more acute or complex than they are today.

Someone not long ago made the tragic and terrible comment upon the saying "There is no place like home," in remarking, "Thank God there isn't."

But is the picture all as dark as this might suggest? Are there not brighter and better aspects? Most assuredly there are. The very complexity of conditions implies new opportunities and new advantages. For those who would discipline their own lives and build up a sound and healthy personal life and home life the world of today offers a great deal that was denied earnest and serious people in the world of yesterday.

One does not, of course, take into account exceptional circumstances or tragedies occasioned by such conditions as unemployment, but it must be remembered that there were always present exceptional and tragic circumstances.

The one thing that is clear, however, is that there can be no satisfactory life in the modern home itself, or coming from the modern home, except as old and well established standards are recognized. Home depends in its very nature upon love and loyalty, upon the faithfulness of its members to one another, and upon their mutual devotion to high ideals.

Unrestraint and carelessness can be only destructive in their results and one must view with alarm a great deal of the license and reactionary attitude that carries on falsely under the pretense of self-expression. Self-expression is most dangerous to the self when it pursues paths that are against the welfare and building up of sound home life and ideal social relationships.

Under the 1922 tariff act the United States annually imported an average of more than eleven million pounds of fresh pork and veal. Under the present Hawley-Smoot law these importations have fallen to 1,316,000 pounds, safeguarding the American farmer.

That's another of those "ghastly jests" the Democratic candidate tried to tell the farmers about.

Charles Hoffman of Newark, N. J., offers this for a campaign slogan: "Keep on the right track—Put Hoover back."

The Republican tariff act also gives to the American farmers a market for about 16,000,000 pounds of soybean oil each year, for that much imported oil has been kept out of competition with American products. Why shouldn't the farmers laugh at that jest?

CANDIDATE ACCUSED

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 19—(AP)—Charges of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated and illegal possession of intoxicating liquor have been filed against Edward L. O'Connor of Iowa City, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, it was revealed by court records today.

O'Connor was released on his own recognizance last night after arraignment before Justice of the Peace John S. Bell of Valley Junction. Preliminary hearing was set for November 15.

He was arrested yesterday after his automobile collided with a truck near Mitchellville.

CAMPBELL'S POSITION

Duquoin, Ill., Oct. 19—(AP)—Bruce Campbell of East St. Louis, primary opponent of Judge Henry Horner for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, took the stump here in Horner's behalf last night and declared good government in Illinois "can only be secured by his selection."

Recalling his primary opposition to Judge Horner because of his sponsorship by Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, the state Democratic managing committee chairman said Cermak has convinced him "that he has no desire to become a downstate boss or dictator."

COMPLAINT DISMISSED

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission today dismissed for lack of prosecution the complaint of the city of Duquoin against rates charged by the Illinois Power & Light Corporation for electricity there.

H. E. Kimmel, counsel for the city, later told the commission in conference that lack of funds had halted his effort to evaluate the company's property for rate making purposes. Chairman G. G. Gilbert of the commission said its engineers had found the Duquoin plant is earning only six per cent on its present value.

SEEK 25 P. O. SITES

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—The Treasury today called for bids to be opened next month on sites for 25 more postoffices under the Garner-Wagner emergency relief act. Bids on the first 125 of more than 400 federal buildings to be constructed under the act have already been received.

The newly advertised sites will be for projects costing less than $100,000.

Postoffices on which bids will be received November 18 include the following in Illinois: Fairchild, Libertyville, Monticello and St. Charles.

YOUNG HOODLUM SLAIN

Chicago, Oct. 19—(AP)—The body of Samuel Dalalay, 19, said by police to have been a driver for the "42 gang," a band of youthful hoodlums, was found today on a west side sidewalk. He had been shot four times. No motive for the slaying was known, police said.

GRACIOUS MANNERS
The power of manners is incessant—a element as unobscurable as fire. The nobility cannot in any country be disguised, and no more in a republic or a democracy than in a kingdom.

No man can resist their influence. Manners are very communicable; men catch them from each other.

Manners require time, as nothing is more vulgar than haste. Friendship should be surrounded with ceremony and respects, and not crushed into mere form. Friendship requires more time than poor busy man can usually command.

In persons of character we do not remark manners, because of their instantaneousness. We are surprised by the thing done, out of all power to watch the way of it. Yet nothing is more charming than to recognize the great style which runs through the action of such.

You cannot rightly train one to an air and manner except by making him the kind of man whom that manner is the natural expression. Nature forever puts a premium on reality. What is done for effect is seen to be done for effect; what is done for love is felt to be done for love. A man inspires affection and honor because he is not lying in wait for these. The things of a man for which we visit him were done in the dark and cold. A little integrity is better than any career. So deep are the sources of this surface action that even the size of your companion seems to vary with his freedom of thought.

It's Cranberry Season
A Dinner Menu

Fried Oysters Mashed Potatoes
Cranberry Sauce
Bread Butter
Vegetable Salad
Prune Whip
Lemon Custard Sauce
(Milk for the children)

Fried Oysters (Serving Four)
1 pint large oysters
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1 egg or 2 yolks
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cups rolled bread or cracker crumbs

6 tablespoons fat
Carefully inspect oysters and remove shells. Sprinkle oysters with salt and paprika. Dip in crumbs and then in egg which has been mixed with water. Dip again into crumbs, patting them so they will not easily come off during cooking. Heat fat in frying pan. Add and quickly brown oysters. Turn and brown other sides.

Cranberry Sauce
2 cups water
1-2 cups sugar
Look over berries and remove all stems. Wash berries and add water. Boil quickly 5 minutes. Add sugar and boil 4 minutes. Stir frequently. Cool and chill.

Prune Whip
1 cup prunes, dried
2 cups water
1-2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 egg whites, beaten
Wash prunes, cover with water and soak overnight. Cover and cook very slowly 1 hour. Cool and remove seeds. Add sugar and cinnamon to pulp (prunes and water). Cook 2 minutes. Stir constantly. Cool. Fold in rest of ingredients. Beat and serve in glass cups.

Custard Sauce
1-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1-4 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Blend sugar and flour. Add milk and yolks. Cook in double boiler until sauce thickens. Be careful not to over-cook or it will curdle. Add rest of ingredients. Beat 1 minute. Cool and chill.

Baked Mush, au Gratin
4 cups boiling water
1 cup cornmeal
1-2 teaspoons salt
1 cup grated cheese
Paprika, tomatoe sauce

Add salt to boiling water and slowly sift in cornmeal, stirring vigorously. Cook and stir until thick and smooth and then cook slowly stirring occasionally to prevent burning, for fifteen minutes longer. Turn into a loaf pan and let stand until cold and firm. Turn out and cut in half inch slices. Arrange in a buttered baking dish sprinkling each slice with grated cheese, paprika and dots of butter. Bake in a slow oven for twenty-five minutes. Serve with well seasoned tomatoe sauce.

Spanish Rice
1-2 cup brown rice
2 cups canned or chopped tomatoes
2 tablespoons butter
1 Bermuda onion
2 green peppers
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
Melt butter in frying pan and add onion and peppers finely minced. Cook five minutes. Add tomatoes. Sprinkle rice over top and season with salt and pepper. Cover frying pan and cook over a low fire for one hour. As soon as rice begins to absorb tomatoe juice watch and stir occasionally to prevent sticking and burning.

Samp and Nuts
1-2 cup samp
1 tablespoon butter
1-2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 cup broken nut meats
1-2 cup cream
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon pepper
Soak samp overnight in cold water. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Then add butter, nuts, cream and seasoning. Cook until cream is absorbed and serve at once.

DRAPERIES MAKE OR UNMAKE A ROOM—

You can't get the hang of a room unless your draperies are chosen wisely. If you have a room that needs the warmth of sunlight choose yellow net curtains with chintz draperies. The coldness of a white effect is removed. If you want to be gay, ruffled organdy curtains are helpful. Wine shades are good draperies in libraries and formal living rooms, and browns are in splendid taste, if they are warm and glowing, instead of dull and drab. A room that wants to appear to be sophisticated will achieve its purpose through black and white effects. A touch of red or bright green, in a coffee table or a great cushioned chair, is necessary to relieve the too-stilted black and white effect, however.

Evening Make-up More Colorful

It is the make-up you wear with them that gives allure to many of the evening ensembles this winter. Before you apply your make-up, be sure that your skin is in a condition to receive it properly and do its best by it.

The foundation you use depends on the condition of your skin. The great majority of women over 30 have skins that are dry, rather than oily. Therefore, a heavy, delicious foundation cream is best for evening.

If you can't manage the moist, luscious look they give your skin, use a lighter, oily finishing cream. If you happen to have an oily skin, pick a lotion that smooths the skin without adding oil to it. But remember, the skin with a moist look is the one that looks youngest under electric lights.

One little de luxe touch you might give yourself for special occasions is to use an ice pack before you put on this cream. It tightens up the skin again, if your hot bath has in any way made it lax and opened its pores. The moisture of the ice, plus the rich finishing cream, is what gives that young look all women want.

Your rouge goes on first of all. If your skin has been treated to ice evening creaming. Use cream rouge, by all means, for powder rouge has a way of making your skin look dry. Remember, too, that the rouge you use of an evening can be brighter, can be used more lavishly and can give a much more artificial effect in evening than you can stand in the daytime.

Put your evening rouge on your cheek-bones, patting it out toward the temples. Don't let it come farther in than even with the center of the eye. Put on plenty. Few bath or dressing table lights are as bright as theater lobbies or restaurants, and you can stand a maximum of color to hold your own when you appear in public.

If you are planning to keep open house the afternoon of election day, or to serve something to the guests waiting for returns in the

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica, rheumatism, headache, strain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strain and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengé (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or break up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "dead" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengé by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic balmes, mostly cheap imitations. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Baume Bengé and you will get real results.

"Lulu, you clean up these dishes. I'm going to lie down for a minute. I have a headache. When you're ready I'll come down and wash and you can dry."

"What's Helen going to do? Can't she help?"

"Helen has been going all day and she has her Latin to do."

"Latin! Mump! A lot of Latin she'll do. She'll just fool around. Besides, I have lessons, too, and I'm tired."

"You're just tired from playing basketball."

"Well—Helen's just tired because she took two hours to go on a little errand for herself that I could have done in fifteen minutes."

"You're always picking on Helen, Lulu. She isn't strong. She was so sick when she was a baby!"

A Familiar Tale
This old story about her sister's babyhood fell unheeded on Lulu's ears. She had heard it every day for years.

"You go on mother, and lie down. I'll do the dishes." As her mother turned wearily away she yelled, "Hi there, Helen. You get at your Latin and see that you do it. I'm not going to help you with it."

"Meanie!" Helen stood in the doorway with a bunch of grapes. The skins she fired promiscuously at the table. "You've got your lessons done, I'll bet a hat."

"Making up algebra."

"Oh, yeah! You went to a movie. Go on and get your Latin now. I said I'd do the dishes. And you come and pick up these skins."

Helen walked out.

"If you aren't the limit!" shouted Lulu.

"Girls!" came their father's stern voice. "Stop your quarreling. There's never a quiet minute in this house."

"Lulu's a grouch," said Helen. "I know," he nodded. Then, sotto voce, "I wish she had your sweet disposition, my dear."

She Was Independent
Lulu banged about the kitchen, finally finished, untied her apron, and got her hat.

"Where are you going?" asked Helen indignantly.

"Over to Patty's."

"What case do you use after 'exco'?"

"Look it up."

DIXON HOPEFUL OF VICTORY IN STERLING GAME

However Latter's 33-0 Win At Belvidere Is Considered

By DON HILLIKER

Expectations of a Dixon victory over Sterling have Saturday remain unchanged. The locals are working hard against Sterling plays by the second string but the Sterling 33-0 rout of Belvidere is highly regarded. If Sterling is the winner it will be a bitter pill for Dixon followers who have not seen a local defeat since 1930.

The final scrimmage of the week was held in this afternoon's session with the Lindell boys apparently fit for the occasion. Dixon has one outstanding merit which Belvidere was lacking and which may be the basis of a favorable result. This is the powerful line play characteristic of the three games played thus far. In this respect Belvidere was unable to take anything from Sterling's backs and repeatedly were out of the play. The terrific battering received the week before from Dixon might account for the ease with which Sterling ran wild over them.

This strong aggression in the forward wall is composed of players performing in their final year of prep football. Capt. Crabtree, Bates, Lerdall, Kellar, Weidman, Potts, Strong and F. Kennedy are seniors. These form one of the strongest lines in northern Illinois and may be able to stop Sterling.

In the backfield will be two more seniors, Fordham and Lightner, Henry and A. Kennedy are juniors. However, considering the apparent strength of both teams it looks like a toss-up. Sterling is hoping to meet a "cocky" Dixon crew but realize the ability of the opposition.

Dixon viewed the game in Sterling last week and know the power of Ted Scheld's boys. With this in mind it is expected that on over-flow crowd will be on hand to see if Dixon will finally meet its doom and end a great winning streak of nine consecutive victories, six from 1931 and three in 1932.

Comparative records show merely the evenly matched play of both eleven. Dixon has won over Amboy, 13-0; Mendota, 6-0; and Belvidere, 15-0. Sterling took Polo, 13-0; Rock Falls 20-0, and Belvidere 33-0. The visitors lost to DeKalb by 7-6. Dixon has not been scored upon while Sterling's goal has been scored on once.

Dixon's B team is also looking for a win. In 1930 Dixon took the championship in this division while last year it finished third. The locals are at present on top with two victories, against Mendota 16-0 and Belvidere 6-0. Sterling has whipped Belvidere 6-0, tied Rock Falls 0-0 and lost to DeKalb 19-0.

Arrangements have been completed regarding the loud-speaking system to be used at the Sterling game. Plans are for this innovation to keep the crowd better informed on the action, such as tackles, penalties, etc.

SENTIMENT TO RETAIN COACH STAGG GROWING

New Athletic Director Thought Likely To Keep Veteran

Chicago, Oct. 20 —(AP)—Sentiment to keep Amos Alonzo Stagg as head football coach at the University of Chicago grew today.

Although Thomas Nelson Metcalf, named as Stagg's successor as Director of Athletics effective next June 30, refused to discuss the coaching situation, several close friends of the veteran coach believed he would continue to direct Chicago football forces.

One of them, James W. Linn, professor of English at Chicago, said he was certain Stagg would be reappointed.

"The chances are at present 10 to 1 that Mr. Stagg will be reappointed as head football coach," Prof. Linn wrote in his daily column in the Chicago Daily Times. Prof. Metcalf will have full authority to select a coach. He knows that Mr. Stagg would like to go on coaching at Chicago; he knows that the administration, the faculty and the squad have the highest admiration for Mr. Stagg as a man. The only obstacle to this appointment would be the probability that Mr. Stagg will have an offer from some other institution financially so attractive that he will be bound to accept it. Ten to one that he will coach at Chicago next fall, did I say? It's 100 to one."

Stagg, himself, refused to discuss the possibilities of his retention, except to remark:

"It's a little early for them (meaning the freshmen, who have started a campaign to keep him as coach) to start worrying."

Purdue Will Try To Break Record

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 20 —(AP)—Purdue will attempt to break Notre Dame's successive football scoring record in the Northwestern game Saturday.

Notre Dame scored in 35 consecutive games from 1919 until the Army broke the string late in 1922. Purdue tied the record last week in scoring against Wisconsin and can break it Saturday.

Purdue's record is one shutout in 46 games.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Those pictures of Stagg—haunting in their sadness—after it was announced that the veteran football coach of the University of Chicago had been trashed aside by an age limit—and his brave declaration that he would carry on in the work of coaching—his reason—"I went into athletic work because it offered the largest opportunity for service through contact with young men. No scheme of life which removes that contact would meet with my ambitions."

It is the same old story—and I can still see Jack Dempsey, as he crouched at the ringside during the Schmeling-Walker fight, nervously fingering his chin and face, and glancing around with that strange panther look of his. And Dan Howley, just before it was announced that he would not manage the Cincinnati Reds in 1933, a tail end club, the Reds, but Dan's team, just the same, and his work in life—even if they did lose so many tough games by one run, they were still his ball club.

WILLARD, THE BOUNCER—

Too old—it comes to us all—the news dispatches carry a little story from Los Angeles—Jess Willard, one-time king pin of the heavyweight fight, reduced in his own Vine street market house to the role of bouncer—at a salary said to be $15 a week—taken to court for a $292 plumbing debt—yet how magnificent he must have been that day under the Havana sun when he destroyed the myth of Jack Johnson's invulnerability!

And Willard's supreme confidence in himself at Toledo comes back—how he went to a barber shop in the morning—and got a shave, haircut, massage and all that—while Jack Dempsey, one of his tent, growling—with a over a week's growth of whiskers on his tanned and rugged chin.

Johnson, himself—a huge black, statue—symmetrical perfection—a study in ebony action—with white teeth shining—his destruction of Stanley Ketchel—a fight that was framed, in a way—in this way, Johnson being supposed to go easy and let Ketchel make a favorable showing—the sudden

RAMBLERS WILL NOT TURN HEAT OFF THIS FALL

Learned Their Lesson Against Trojans Last Winter

Chicago, Oct. 20 —(AP)—Football teams looking for generosity might as well stay away from Notre Dame.

The Ramblers, still incensed because they lost in sublime confidence after scoring 2 touchdowns against Southern California last year and then couldn't halt the victorious Trojan comeback, are out to win every game from now on by as large a score as possible.

With few exceptions, it always lashing out of Ketchel's fist, as a golden opportunity presented itself—and Johnson—grinning with fury coming back into the battle and knocking Ketchel cold with a vineful punch. After the fight in Johnson's dressing room, we can see seconds plucking Ketchel's front teeth out of Johnson's glove. But now, Johnson is earning his living as host in roadhouses and night clubs—and clowning in front of a jazz orchestra.

THE BURDEN OF YEARS—

Too old—we can see Benny Leonard, sobbing in the arms of Referee Donovan, after Jimmy McLarin's swishing gloves had brought back to the old man the burden of his years. We can see Tommy Loughran, insisting that he could carry on a while longer, after he had been knocked out by men who couldn't have laid a glove on him a few years earlier. And Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, in their last tragic year of baseball at Philadelphia—stumbling around in the outfield—pretending that they still had all the qualities that made them the greatest players in the game years before—too old!

It comes to all of us—Stagg and Dempsey and Willard and Johnson and Leonard and Cobb and Speaker—age inevitably dims the fire of greatness.

Stagg, in his dreams, can see the great Eckersall, streaking down the field. Dempsey can see Firpo falling to the canvas under a shower of blows. Corbett can see old John L. unable to rise. Johnson can see Jim Jeffries the white man's champion, bowed under the weight of years and Johnson's own destructive blows. Benny Leonard can look back, too, and in his reminiscences see Lew Tendler beaten just as he was about to crush the great Leonard, one of the finest lightweights that ever lived.

And Cobb and Speaker can look back, to the days of brave deeds—Cobb matching his own cunning against a catcher's wit and arm—Speaker running far back to the flagpole and leaping high to spear a drive from Heilmann's bat.

But now, too old, never mind. Stagg, it comes to us all.

was the Notre Dame policy under the late Knute Rockne to turn off the heat after rolling up two or three touchdowns. Coach "Hunk" Anderson, his successor and former field marshal, employed the same system until he found his forces battered by the Trojans and routed by the Army last season. But this year, the heat is on to stay as demonstrated by victories of 73 to 0 over Haskell and 62 to 0 over Drake, totals that amazed even the staunchest Rambler followers.

One Injury Stops Lemont's Schedule

Lemont, Ill., Oct. 20 —(AP)—One injury has prompted Lemont to drop football for the rest of the season, perhaps forever.

John Cafferty fractured his left arm last Saturday as the Lemont high school team defeated Plainfield, 20 to 0. That was enough. The rest of the games were cancelled.

A crude submarine, to be propelled by oars, was constructed over 300 years ago during the reign of King James I of England.

ATTENDANCE IS FALLING OFF AT FOOTBALL GAMES

Nearly All Colleges Report Reduction In Receipts

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Oct. 20 —(AP)—That the football public is getting "choosy" about its games and even the enthusiastic "old grad" wants his money's worth when he goes back for a game is indicated in reports of a general decrease in attendance at college contests this season.

Reports from all over the country show declines of from ten to fifty per cent from last year's figures and gate receipts falling off even more. Many colleges plan further reductions in the hope of bringing out the crowds but a few instances of increased attendance show that the crowds are still there when the games are good or a team is having a better than usual season.

While the east, the mid west, the Rocky Mountain district and parts of the south have produced few big crowds, Stanford, Utah, at the same time in 1931, Auburn, Auburn, North Carolina State, Duke and a few other colleges report general gains.

Game Is The Thing

The game appears to be the thing although reduced prices have aided in some instances. North Carolina State, for example reports lower attendance at three games but an increase at one big contest which made the total so far this year greater than it was with a team that is undefeated and threatening the Southern Conference leaders, also reports an improvement and Stanford's attendance for five games is up about one third—enough to balance the losses of the other Pacific coast leaders.

Utah, which started out by playing Southern California, and kept on playing major opponents, had an attendance of 20,306 at its first two home games against 18,095 last year but the gain is attributed to a 50 per cent price cut.

Big Ten Suffers

The east and the Big Ten have suffered seriously from the declines, however, and retrenchment plans are under way. Columbia had a successful experiment with reserved seats at bargain rates last Saturday and expects to continue. Minnesota also did some cutting, reducing the price in the curved end section to $1 for last Saturday's game. The situation in the Western Conference is reflected by the 42,000 attendance at last week's Ohio State-Michigan game compared to the usual 75,000.

William J. Bingham, Director of Athletics at Harvard where attendance has been poor, outlined the situation in the east along with a suggestion for solving the problem.

"The decline in game receipts for the big games likely will lead to further reduction of prices," he told The Associated Press. "It is possible a solution will be found in establishing a wider range of prices for major contests, the top price for which now is $4 plus tax, less than it was a year ago."

Tennessee already plans to experiment along those lines, reducing prices for the less attractive seats while Denver and Colorado Universities not only have cut prices but have banned radio broadcasting as well.

Grins From The Gridiron

By O. W. "RED" SEVERANCE

The late Knute Rockne, immortal coach of Notre Dame, had an uncanny ability of instilling confidence into his men by allowing them to work their way out of a tight spot without his advice. But if it seemed that nothing short of advice from the coach's bench could save a game, Rockne could be depended upon to send in a substitute with the desired information.

This last predicament faced the Ramblers in their 1925 Rose Bowl game against Stanford as the great Ernie Nevers. All-America fullback, ploughed through the Ramblers' line for gain after gain. Jim Crowley, now coach at Michigan State College, was then one of the Four Horsemen.

"We couldn't stop Nevers that day," Crowley said. "He would crack through one side for five yards and then hit the other side for six more. We would pick ourselves off the ground and look over at the sidelines, hoping Rock would send in somebody to tell us what was wrong with our defense."

"Finally Nevers brought the ball down to the three yard line. Then our prayers were answered. Out from the sidelines dashed a big sophomore named McMullen, so excited at playing before 85,000 people he forgot whose place he was to take and simply told the referee, 'I'm for Notre Dame.'"

"But we knew he was bringing information from Rock that would break up that one-man drive if it were possible to do it."

"We held Nevers on the first play, called time out and huddled around McMullen to hear the news that would strengthen our defense."

"Stammering and stuttering, he finally gulped forth: 'B-boys, R-R-Rock said th-the trouble wa-was—'"

"Yes, go on," we yelled.

"He said th-the trouble was that we're not stopping th-that Nevers."

"And the funny part," Crowley ended, "good old McMullen threw Nevers for a loss on the next three plays and Stanford lost the ball on downs."

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

By The Associated Press

Mattoon — A youth identified through a letter and a bill found as covey Dailey of Toledo, O., was killed when, officials believe, he fell from an Illinois Central freight train. His body was found on the tracks near an intersection.

Chicago — Giuseppe Maria Abbate, former barber who became a cult leader, was convicted by a jury for the second time of having attacked the 13-year-old daughter of a "disciple." Sentence was fixed at 10 years. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the flaming wreckage of his airplane. John Hoover, 38, Chicago, was burned to death. The plane fell about 500 feet shortly after Hoover had taken off for the return trip to Chicago.

Chicago—The internal revenue bureau has filed a claim for $200,000 against the estate of Christian P. Paschen, former Building Commissioner, whose conviction for violation of the income tax law is now pending on appeal. Paschen is under a two-year sentence.

Monmouth—A portrait of Don Everett Waid, New York architect and graduate of Monmouth College, will be publicly displayed Saturday in the institution's new Fine Arts building. Waid has been prominently identified with the development of the Fine Arts department.

Chicago — The body of James Faldetta, 62-year-old recluse, was found in his cottage. He had been shot in the side, the chest, and the head. Police theorized that he had been killed by someone in search of money the recluse was reputed to have hidden on the premises.

Chicago — Several hundred unemployed went on a strike because their rations had been curtailed. The "strikers" sat down on the sidewalk in front of a north side relief station and refused, for several hours, to move. No violence was attempted.

Chicago — The Alton Railroad Company has inaugurated an auto truck "ferry" service between Chicago and East St. Louis. Trucks using the service run their loaded trucks aboard flat cars at terminals and ship them across the state at a rate said to be cheaper than running them over the highways. Under the plan the truck companies load and unload their trucks.

As far back as 3800 B. C., there were in Babylonia maps which were based on land surveys and which were used for taxation purposes.

WHEREAS, it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of the City of Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, to purchase the present privately owned waterworks system of the Dixon Water Company, generally described as including all lands, buildings, easements, pumps, water mains and equipment of said company now used or useful in furnishing water to said city; and Both principal of and interest upon this bond are hereby made payable in gold coin of the United States of America or of equal to the present standard of weight and fineness at Chemical Bank & Trust Company in the City of New York, New York.

This bond is payable solely from revenues derived from the waterworks system of said City and not otherwise, and is issued under authority of an Act of the General Assembly of Illinois entitled "An Act to amend Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, and the title of an Act entitled 'An Act authorizing cities, towns, and villages to build, purchase or extend waterworks systems for public and domestic use and to provide for the cost thereof,' approved April 22, 1899, and to limit application of the Act as amended to cities, towns, and villages having a population of less than 500,000," approved July 2, 1931, and in force July 2, 1931, for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing the present privately owned waterworks system of the Dixon Water Company, including all lands, buildings, easements, pumps, water mains and equipment and this bond does not constitute an indebtedness of said city within any constitutional or statutory limitation.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT HOOVER
Washington—Just over the broad east plaza of the Capitol the other day, in the presence of the foremost jurists and lawyers of the country, a ceremony took place that might have been called a memorial to William Howard Taft. It was the laying of the cornerstone for the state's new home of the nation's highest court.

The late President and chief justice long dreamed of the day when that should come to pass. For it was under his steady pressure that general plans for the building were completed, title to the land acquired and the structure itself authorized by law. He died just before the actual appropriation could be made.

Far back in the first years of Taft's Washington life, Theodore Roosevelt, then his chief, suggested that Taft was available timber for the Presidency. Taft, however, let it be known that what he wanted was a place on the supreme bench.

REALIZED AMBITION—Taft was drafted for the Presidency, however, if a man ever was. And it brought him in the end one of the bitterest political defeats any man of his party has known.

Yet time brought him consolation. As Chief Justice he reached the pinnacle of his lifelong ambition.

At the start he set himself to intensive study of the practices and processes of the court. Under his driving force much was done to speed up Federal judicial machinery.

Yet his heart was not set upon that so much as it was on the realization of his long cherished dream of a stately independent building to house the court—a structure in keeping with the dignity and power of the judicial arm of the government.

A MEMORIAL—Now the court is to have its home as he had dreamed it. Even the architectural design bears the stamp of his individual taste. And whether it is so designated or not, to many the structure will stand as a memorial to his long and distinguished public service.

4000 Cancer Cures Are Authenticated

St. Louis, Oct. 20—(AP)—More than 4000 authenticated cases of cancer cure, by means of surgery, radium treatment or both, were reported by distinguished specialists to a session of the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons here today.

Added to the 1253 cases already registered with the college and more than 3000 others revealed by an incomplete survey of medical literature, these made a total of approximately 8500 known cures in the United States and Canada.

In each instance the patient treated was alive and well after five years, the period during which it is assumed the disease would reappear if not eradicated.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez of Rochester, Minn., reporting results of treatment at the Mayo Clinic, listed 881 "five-year cures" among patients whose later history could be traced.

Dr. George W. Crie reported 737 cures in cases treated by himself and associates in the Cleveland Clinic.

Extension Of Dole Demanded By Labor

London, Oct. 20—(AP)—Extension of the "dole" payments to unemployed has been demanded by Labor party leaders as a result of Tuesday's riots in the Lambeth district.

The demand was made yesterday in the House of Commons by George Lansbury, Labor party leader, after Prime Minister MacDonald, taking note of the disturbance Tuesday, cleared the way for debate.

"I demand that the damnable 'means test' be abolished," Lansbury said, "and that every man be given a chance of decent existence."

The so-called "means test" in the present "dole" regulations is a provision that before a person can receive unemployment insurance he must show proof that he has not the means to subsist, normally, even though he is not employed.

Beau Brummel Of Paris Died Early This Morn

MARQUIS DE CASTELLANE

Paris, Oct. 20—(AP)—Marquis Beau de Castellane, for many years "arbiter of elegance," bon vivant and Beau Brummel of the Paris boulevards, died today, aged 61. The end came after a week's serious illness in which the results of a paralytic stroke were complicated by bronchitis.

Formerly the husband of Anna Gould, American heiress, and daughter of Jay Gould, his marriage to the king's daughter made it possible for him to realize the dream of supremacy in the world he loved—a world of thoroughbred horses, marble palaces, the opera, society and the company of brilliant women.

He died peacefully at 4:50 A. M., without recovering consciousness from a coma into which he lapsed at 6 o'clock last night. A priest was called at midnight, when the end seemed near, and administered the last rites of the church.

Failing health during the last 12 years had brought about the virtual retirement of the Marquis from the society over which he once ruled.

The funeral will be Monday at the church of St. Philippe du Roule and burial will be in the family vault at the chateau of Rochecotte, in the Department of the Loire.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELLO, timber king, of crooked practice and of ordering men shot who are sent to check up on his activities. Ball says he will personally prevent it. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball waves DONA, Delo's daughter, from kidnappers. He tells her his name is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, goes with her to Three Rivers to get Delo to give up the fight with Ball. He tries to marry Dona and gets the certificate signed. Delo is ambushed and wounded badly. SWERGIN, Delo's hard timber boss, blames Ball for the ambush and for the killing of a ranger. Dudley has taken to riding in the hills, hunting Ball. Dona tells her father she has married Dudley and shows the certificate in an attempt to get him away.

Ball comes in for food and hears of the supposed marriage. He is surrounded by a posse. Dona rides out and sees him escaping. She shoots him and he takes a wound, capturing her. He takes her to his cave hideout. Swergin finds the cave while Ball is out and captures him upon his return. He takes Ball to a cabin and sends for men. Dona is sent on ahead while the men plan a lynchings.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

DONA rode down the trail slowly.

Stan Ball's black mare did not want to go. The horse kept turning her head and edging off the trail. But she remembered that her master had given her orders to obey the slender girl so she made a half-hearted attempt to step along.

The lumberjack who was acting as Dona's escort did not seem to mind riding slowly. He was out of place in the saddle and his raw, downed frame jolted up and down when his horse trotted.

Turn between a wild eagerness to be back with her father and fear that all was not well on the back trail, Dona rode along. Dudley scarcely entered her thoughts. So many strange things had happened in the past week, so many amazing twists of fate, that life had begun to seem unreal. Always a girl who made decisions rapidly and drove straight to a finish, she was surprised at her present state of uncertainty.

She could not understand Stanley Ball with his clear gray eyes, his chivalry toward her and his fearlessness in the face of death itself. How could a man like that be an outlaw and killer? The question kept pounding in her brain as she rode.

The black mare's hoofs clicked on the trail with an even rhythm and soon Dona's thoughts were beating to the same measure. Ball had admitted that he was guilty of all the charges against him. That means he had shot her father, killed a ranger and wounded several men. Dona was back exactly where she had started. But a man who had committed such crimes would never have treated her with the respect and dignity that Ball had shown each time they had met.

The escort was riding ahead now. He had eased himself in the saddle by throwing one leg around the horn and his body lolled grotesquely as his horse plodded along. Dona watched him narrowly.

She slowed her horse a little to see if he were watching her out of the tail of his eye. The man slowed, too, and she knew that he was keeping a close check on her movements. Suddenly Dona pushed the mare ahead and rode abreast of him.

"Do you suppose they have the job done yet?" She motioned with her head in the direction from which they had come.

The man looked at her, then grinned. "They'll bring him down the trail a ways, then—" He jerked upward with one thumb and his grin widened.

Dona's lips went white. "I'm going back to put a stop to it!" she cried.

The black mare halted. The man pulled his horse to a stop. "No use to butt in," he growled.

"I'm going back! It will be plain murder!" The girl's eyes were ablaze and her lips trembling.

The dull fellow beside her drew a deer breath of admiration at Dona's striking beauty, but he shook his head. "All over by now," he grunted.

DONA took in the situation at a glance. Her companion was unbalanced in his saddle. One leg was cast over the horn. His gun hung from his hip on her side while his big hands rested on the saddle horn. He was drinking in the picture she made. With a lightning movement Dona flashed out with her quirt, at the same time swinging the black mare up against the other horse. The lashing leather strips cut across the fellow's eyes and cheeks, blinding him. Dona reached over and jerked his gun loose, then cut his horse cruelly across its flanks. The animal snorted and leaped into the air. Like a big sack of meal, the man sailed into the air and landed in a heap on the ground.

Dona did not wait to see if her victim arose. She sent the black thundering up the back trail. Would she be in time? The question pounded in her brain to the beat of the black mare's hoofs.

Dona did not wait to see if her victim arose. She sent the black

Stan's horse fairly flew up the rough path, darting around trees and curves with a swift grace. Dona leaned forward eagerly and let the mare set the pace. Through the cut timber they raced and on into the growth that had not been desolated by the ax.

Out on the Pass Creek trail the black streaked. She knew where she was headed and her nostrils flared as she strained at her loose bit. Dona felt a rush of exhilaration as she watched the mare's powerful muscles lift and fall. She was riding a great horse.

In a flurry of dust and loose stones Dona burst from the trail
